

Thebeautycounter.com

The Beauty Counter

Tuesday, January 06, 2009

Review: M LAB

The Ingredients for Beautiful Skin:

Milbor Laboratories, a global leader in the art and science of cosmeceutical development, challenged their scientists to create without limitation, the most efficacious and luxurious anti aging formulations in the world, and the most spectacular results ensued.

Introducing M LAB:

The successful action of the M LAB™ products results from an extraordinarily high number of clinically active ingredients designed to target every visual sign of aging. Their exclusive formulations provide the greatest opportunity for positive skin response and corrective action.

The Results:

Professional clinical testing has validated the results and expectations of the M LAB™ product line. Demonstrable effects and positive changes will quickly be seen by you and others. Study results indicate our formulation approach produces skin firming, the reduction of fine lines and wrinkles and the improvement of skin clarity, color and texture.

The Heritage:

Milbor Laboratories has been formulating innovative skin care in the medical market for Dermatologists and Plastic Surgeons for over 25 years.

M LAB

As Seen On

Thebeautycounter.com

January 6, 2009

Circulation: 100,000
visitors per month

The Anti-Aging Toner ($50) complex of natural plant extracts, mineral cofactors, and hydration-boosting agents promotes soft, smooth, healthy, vibrant skin. A slew of hydrates replenish moisture and lock it in for increased radiance and suppleness. Minerals balance the complexion while nourishing and increasing vitality. Spirulina maxima extract firms and strengthens the complexion; and bilberry extract supplies extreme antioxidant protection while diminishing skin discoloration. The skin is left strong, balanced, evenly toned and ready for further treatment. Anti-Aging Toner features 62% clinically active ingredients.

Review: I have found that the toner works very well with my skin. I'm able to incorporate other products with this toner without causing any kind of irritation or problem. This toner is fantastic and one of the best I've tried so far. It makes my skin feel very saturated without feeling greasy. It is far from being cheap, but it holds very true to its description.

Anti-Aging Day Treatment SPF 15 ($125) is designed to moisturize, nourish and protect the skin while smoothing away and preventing visible signs of aging. Squalane and coenzyme Q10 provide essential fatty acids and antioxidants in order to reinforce the skin's natural moisture barrier and neutralize free radical damage. Soy bean extract and ceramides firm the skin while reducing water loss for a more supple texture and radiant tone. Powerful sunscreen agents protect against UVA and UVB damage. Various botanical extracts calm, soothe and hydrate while supplying the skin with nourishing vitamins and minerals. Arbutin, aminobutyric acid, palmitoyl oligopeptide, palmitoyl tetrapeptide-7 and a slew of other anti-aging ingredients reduce the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles while simultaneously smoothing and refining the skin's texture. These incredibly powerful and complex actions leave you with skin that glows with health, youth and vitality. Anti-Aging Day Treatment SPF 15 features 65% clinically active ingredients.

Review: This has become my go to moisturizer. Considering all of my skin woes, this doesn't cause any breakouts. It sinks right into the skin and makes it feel very soothing. Despite the price tag, this product is addictive. You're going to want to use it everyday once you become accustomed to the smoothness and radiance of your skin when using this day treatment. The results are instantaneous!

Despite the hefty price tags accompanying the M LAB product line, I can honestly say that all of their products live up to their word.

Posted by Hil'Lesha at 11:06 PM ShareThis